Developing a winning resume

Resume Formats

There is no “perfect” or right resume format. The format you choose will depend upon the job you hope to find and your past experiences. The following pages show resume formats. Look them over and determine what format or combination of formats will present you in the best possible light. Remember, the purpose of a resume is to get you a job interview. The interview gets you the job.

General Resume Guidelines

The following guidelines are just that—guidelines for what to include in a good resume. Remember, your résumé’s function is to obtain a job interview for you. Use your common sense and imagination to highlight your background and experience in a well-focused resume.

Length

- A one-page resume works well for the recent graduate. If you have an extensive work history, two pages are reasonable. Remember, individuals with extensive work history should limit information to what is pertinent to their current job objective. If you do go to two pages, make sure the most important information is stated on the first page.

Appearance

- An organized readable layout determines whether a resume is read. Direct the reader’s eye with the format. Make sure it is well-organized and concise. Avoid dense text appearance that is difficult to read.
- Consider using high-quality white or off-white paper.
- Always type or word-process your resume and have it professionally copied.
- Make sure there are no typographical, spelling, or grammatical errors.
- Information that has been crossed out or handwritten is unacceptable.
- Make sure your resume will copy well. Do a photocopy test.

Content (See the following resume categories)

- Design your resume with a particular objective in mind. Present information important to the objective first.
- List information in descending order of importance.
- Be selective about what you include in your resume, but never falsify or exaggerate information.
- Concentrate on the positive and use action verbs to describe your background.

Resume Inventory

The following categories are usually found in a resume. These are suggestions. You should adopt those that best fit your needs.

Necessary Categories

Objective

In one sentence, simply state the type of work that you’d like to do. If you have one special interest, state it as a special interest (...with a special interest in Network Administration). Similarly, if you have several interests, state them using the connective word “and” (...with interests in Programming and Database Management). If you have no real preference, identify at least two as general using the word “or” (...with general interests in Digital Design or Signal Processing).

Education

Include GPA only if 3.0 or greater. If your overall GPA is less than 3.0 and your average in your major is 3.0 or greater (e.g., all E.E. courses), use that instead (e.g., Major GPA: 3.2). Also, list all schools attended after high school and include any Certifications or additional Training Certificates, listing the most recent first and working backward.

Honors/Awards

Include scholarships, honor societies, honor programs, and special awards. Also include any recognition from your community, job, or service organizations.

Key Courses

Include courses that are directly related to your Objective, not basic courses taken by all students. If you have a special interest in Networking and have taken courses in Networking, those courses should be listed by name. Do not include course numbers.

Computer Skills

Must be included, regardless of your major. Categorize according to Proficient (know very well), Working Knowledge (know well enough to work with), and Familiar (limited knowledge). Computer Science majors may wish to identify skills categorized by Languages, Operating Systems, Databases, and Applications.

Projects

This category should be added after Computer Skills, especially if Work Experience is weak or nonexistent. Include Senior or Master’s Projects, course projects, and/or challenging class assignments. Use the same format for Projects as shown in Work Experience.

Work Experience

Format with bullets as shown. Begin each phrase with a Power Verb, emphasizing special accomplishments. Use fragmented sentences and avoid personal pronouns such as I, me, or we.

Professional Affiliations

Include any and all organizations with which you have an affiliation such as IEEE, ASME, NSBE, HOST/SHPE, etc. However, write the full organization name instead of using the initials. List all offices held and positions of leadership, such as President, Secretary or Committee Chairperson.

Hobbies/Interests

Any activities that you enjoy, such as music, reading, or sports.

Activities

Include your participation in organizations with which you have more than just an interest, such as a specific varsity or intramural sport, fraternity, sorority, campus organization or club. Include community activities as well, and list all leadership positions and offices held.
