An overview of the PSEG-NJIT relationship

PSEG and the PSEG Foundation are proud supporters of NJIT. The PSEG Foundation's strategic pillars include environmental sustainability, social justice, equity and economic empowerment and NJIT brings something to bear in each of these areas. The PSEG Foundation has supported the Center for Pre-College Programs' (CPCP) Explore Careers in Technology and Engineering program since 2015, providing rising 8th graders from urban schools with access to high-quality instruction in STEM and college readiness skills. This program provides students with intense academic instruction and hands-on immersion in energy concepts, sustainability issues and engineering solutions.

The PSEG Foundation also supports NJIT's efforts to expand access to STEM education and careers for underrepresented minorities, first-generation college students, and Newark residents with a new grant of $800,000. The new grant provides crucial support for students through pre-college summer programs, the "NJIT-Newark Math Success Initiative," need-based PSEG Opportunity Scholarships, and also funds research for students in NJIT's Undergraduate Research and Innovation Program. With its partnership with NJIT, PSEG helps empower the lives of our customers, our workforce and our communities.

PSEG's Alumni Corporate Club supports engagement through professional development, networking and recruiting events where students and alumni can network and enhance critical skills, such as resume building and interview skills, to help drive their careers.

The reasons for PSEG's support of NJIT

NJIT is one of PSEG's strongest university partners. In 2021, PSEG hired 11 NJIT interns/co-op students and then proceeded to hire five of those interns into full-time positions. As NJIT is our neighbor, there is an abundance of opportunities to engage with students and faculty. As an employer partner of the Career Development Center, PSEG enjoys multiple connections to NJIT's highly talented and diverse students.
