Artificial Intelligence is the disruptive technology shaping the future of research, education, and professional life. This Faculty Fridays focuses on a series of discussions designed to equip you with the knowledge and tools to effectively engage with AI across all aspects of your work.

- Track A: The Researcher – Featuring Dr. David Bader, NJIT Data Science, on the cutting-edge of AI innovation.
- Track B: The Educator – With Dr. Jessica Simon of CEIE, exploring how to integrate AI into teaching & learning.

- Track C: The User Ms. Manail Anis discusses Digital Ethics, and responsible AI & XR application in teaching.

Don't miss this opportunity to define your role in the AI revolution!

Faculty Fridays occur on the first Friday of every month. It provides networking and getting-to-know you opportunities and aims to foster a sense of community among NJIT faculty and lecturers.
