Please complete the Emergency Grants Fund form.

Can I apply for the Emergency Grant funding more than once?

What are the qualifications to receive funding via the ARP Act?

During Phase I of implementation, those who are eligible are active students with a Pell-eligible Expected Family Contribution, and those non-Pell-eligible EFCs awarded TAG, EOF, SEOG, Federal Work-Study, or Federal Direct Subsidized Loans with a need for assistance for expense under the cost of attendance or another emergency needs that arise due to the coronavirus pandemic. Yes, DACA or international students who demonstrate need will be eligible, however, the award distribution is expected to begin late September 2021 during Phase II.

If approved, how much will I receive and when can I expect to receive my funding?

Fund amounts varies depending on the answers to the online application/survey and the level of need. However, the amount of the award for Pell-eligible EFC students may not exceed the maximum Pell award amount ($6,495 for 21-22) and $4,230 for non-Pell-eligible EFC students awarded specific need-based funds (i.e., TAG, EOF, Federal Work-Study, SEOG, and/or Federal Direct Subsidized Loan). If your application is approved, and you are signed up for direct deposit, the funds will be on your account as soon as it is posted. If you are not set up for direct deposit, a paper check will be mailed in a few weeks. We encourage all students to sign up for direct deposit by following the instructions on the Bursar's website. Students who elect to use funds to pay for tuition and fees and other expenses on the bill such as housing and meals will be used to pay those charges and no refund will be issued.

Can I apply the Emergency Grant funds to my existing balance at NJIT?

Yes, funds can be used towards your tuition and fee expense but you must specify that on your application and you must make this need one of your 2 top priorities when you are requested to rank your needs on the online application.

Can I use emergency funds to cover housing and meal expenses even though these charges are already covered by my scholarships?

No, funds cannot be used to duplicate a benefit student is already receiving from a scholarship.

Do I need to file a 21-22 FAFSA and be a financial aid recipient in order to receive funding via the ARP?

Current legislation does not require that you file a 21-22 FAFSA. However, students are highly encouraged to file a 21-22 FAFSA so need can be adequately assessed. Those who cannot file a FAFSA, will be provided further guidance in September (Phase II of award distributions) on how to assess need.

What type of expenses are covered?

Any component of the student's cost of attendance (tuition, fees, room and meals, books/supplies, transportation and other miscellaneous), or emergency costs that arise due to COVID-19 and as of March 13, 2020 (including tuition, food, housing, healthcare and childcare). Under books/supplies, technology costs such as a computer, printer, and webcam can be covered.

If I am living on campus, can I request emergency funds to cover my on-campus housing expenses?

No, if you are living on campus then the housing expense will be covered under your balance by the emergency funds. If you do not live on campus then only you should choose the option to cover your housing expenses.

Can I request funds to cover a past balance from Fall 2019?

No, only balances incurred as of the pandemic date of March 13, 2020 and other emergency costs that arise due to COVID-19 are allowed.

Are rental or mortgage expenses considered as part of the ARP Act funding?

Funds can be used to cover any component of the student's cost of attendance (tuition, fees, room and meals, books/supplies, transportation and other miscellaneous), or emergency costs that arise due to COVID-19 (including tuition, food, housing, healthcare and childcare). Since rental or mortgage payments are valid components of the student's cost of attendance funds can be used to cover the expense but not to exceed the maximum award limits.

What if I have emergency expenses that are not part of my cost of attendance?

Funds can be used to cover any component of the student's cost of attendance (tuition, fees, room and meals, books/supplies, transportation and other miscellaneous), or emergency costs that arise due to COVID-19 (including tuition, food, housing, healthcare and childcare).

If I lost my job, can I apply for the Emergency Financial Aid grant?

Yes, you can apply to cover expenses part of your cost of attendance (tuition, fees, room and meals, books/supplies, transportation and other miscellaneous), or emergency costs that arise due to COVID-19 (including tuition, food, housing, healthcare and childcare). Under books/supplies, technology costs such as a computer, printer, and webcam can be covered.

If I received ARP Grant funds to cover technology expenses such as a computer, can I request emergency funds to cover technology expenses again?

You may request to cover technology expenses so long as it is not an expense already covered (such as a computer) under the CARES or ARP grant previously received.

Can I apply to cover more than one expense?

Yes, but it is not guaranteed that you will receive the funds for all expenses as it depends on the amount available as well as maximum award limit and how you ranked the need. On the application, you will be requested to prioritize your expenses to be covered and the University will try to fund the top two needs.

If I am enrolled in an online program and taking online courses this semester, can I apply for the Emergency Financial Aid grant?

Yes, you can as there are no restrictions related to distance education.

What if my application gets denied for the Emergency Grant funding?

Other relief grants will be provided to the extent possible in cases where students do not meet the general guidelines.
