Course Registration

Course registration will take place when you arrive on the NJIT campus. You can familiarize yourself with the official semester schedule of courses at www.njit.edu/registrar.

All students must receive advising and approval from an assigned academic adviser before registering for classes. Additionally, graduate students may be required to receive departmental signature approval. There is no guarantee that you will be able to register for the classes you see on NJIT's website; approval for registration will depend on many factors including, but not limited to, class availability, pre-requisites, and more.

Permission to enroll as an exchange student does not imply eventual admission to a degree program.
