2023 Forensic Science Professional Development

The Center for Pre-College Programs Forensic Science Initiative (FSI) is offering a 2023 Forensic Science Professional Development cohort during the summer for teachers who will be teaching our foundations course, FRSC201 Introduction to Forensic Science, during the 2023-24 school year.

An 11-Day On-Campus Program Featuring:

- Hands-on professional development in lab and teaching techniques
- Curriculum mapping our syllabus to individual school’s needs to ensure that students receive an authentic college experience
- Creation of cornerstone lessons for each major topic in the syllabus

All in a collaborative model raved about by last summer’s teachers!

Program Information:
- Teachers will meet on campus at least twice during the 2023-24 academic year (Districts/schools will be expected to arrange release time and cover ancillary costs, such as the cost of subs.)
- Stipend, light breakfast, lunch, parking, materials, and PD certificate provided
- Program limited to 18 teachers
- Requires an MOU between NJIT and the district/school for FRSC201 as a dual enrollment 200-level course, recommended for High School seniors
- Requires use of the NJIT syllabus and teaching materials
- Participating teachers will receive additional resources developed by high school teachers

Program Dates:
- Summer 2023

If you are interested in having a teacher participate in the 2023 FSI Professional Development Cohort and exploring the Options program, please contact Dr. Barbara Weller, Director, Forensic Science Initiative, weller@njit.edu.