

Modes of Instructional Delivery at NJIT<sup>1</sup>

Converged Learning: Delivery of instruction is independent of place, merging the physical and virtual classrooms. There is an attendance expectation and students can choose to attend class face-to-face or using real-time synchronous video conferencing technology. Some instructors may require occasional proctored exams. (sometimes referred to as a synchronous distributed course).

<sup>3</sup> See <http://www.njit.edu/online/current-students/faq/> for more information about proctored exams.
