NJIT TAB promotes B2H Model at the “New Partners for Smart Growth” Conference

17th Annual np 2018
New Partners
for Smart Growth™ Conference

Practical Tools and Innovative Strategies for Creating Great Communities

February 1-3, 2018 | San Francisco

NJIT TAB highlighted how multiple organizations including the University of Pikeville and Big Sandy Health Care partnered with the community to advance healthcare in rural communities and placed-based investment in Kentucky to an audience of approximately 50 people from around the country. The audience was particularly interested in learning how rural communities, such as Central Appalachia can use the Brownfields to Healthfields (B2H) model to drive improvements in economic development and population health. The session also showcased the replicable strategies for B2H.
