NJIT TAB and Groundwork USA to Conduct “Engaging Youth in Brownfields Advocacy and Planning” Workshop

NJIT TAB is partnering with Groundwork USA to deliver an extracurricular workshop co-located with the New Partner's for Smart Growth conference in Portland, OR on February 11th. The workshop will focus on engaging young people in brownfield planning and advocacy. Our goal is to capture the attention of youth, community-based practitioners, and municipal staff alike, and build their capacity for leading inclusive, equitably oriented projects and programs. NJIT TAB's portion of the workshop will feature a presentation and discussion on:

- Brownfield basics
- Benefits of Brownfield Redevelopment
- Ways in which the EPA Brownfields program can help communities
- EPA Technical Assistance Programs
- Steps in Conducting a Phase I
- How to research historic uses on a property

This workshop is free and open to the public.
